ATonic

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE.

A most excellent and agreeable tonic and appetizer. It nourishes and invigorates the tired brain and body, imparts renewed energy and vitality and enlivens the functions.

Dr. Ephraim Bateman, CEDARVILLE, N. J., says: "I have used it for several years, not only in my practice, but in my own individual case, and consider it under all circumstances one of the best nerve tonics that we possess. For mental exhaustion or overwork it gives renewed strength and vigor to the entire system."

PRINTED AT THE COURIER OFFICE, ANN ARBOR.

A BOOK that should be in the hands of all students of rhetoric is Lewes' "Principles of Success in Literature," which has just been issued, with introduction and notes by Professor Fred N. Scott. The subject is treated simply and fundamentally, while the entertaining style of the author and the well selected notes of the editor combine to place before any reader at all interested in the subject a work that will not only be read with pleasure and benefit, but also will encourage further reading in the same line.

THE past week has been one of hard work. The examination, especially for the under-class-men, have been many and extremely wearisome. The hot weather has not been at all conducive to hard bohning and many sighs of relief will be drawn when all the examinations are over. Next week will end the work of the year, and the majority of the students at the first opportunity will be off on their vacations. The crowding of so many examinations into the last two weeks of the semester is certainly pretty hard on the conscientious student. One or two of the professors gave examinations last month on the work gone over, and a secondary examination this week on the remainder of the work. Where this plan is practicable, it works admirably to the advantage of both student and instructor. It seems that the work of examinations might be made somewhat easier and yet just as beneficial by a more general adoption of some similar arrangement.

THE literary class of '91 has come to the front in athletics this year. She is now the champion of the class base ball league, and has the honor of being the first class in the literary department to hold the championship banner. Poor '91 during her first two years in college, was knocked about, kicked and cuffed all over the athletic field. She was the laughing stock of the haughty men of '90, and even the freshman class of '92, dared to jest with her rivals with impunity. Now all this is changed, and in every sense of the word, '91 is a "self made" class. Her record this year in athletics is something of which she may be proud, and is brilliant enough to atone for all former misfortunes. Tum-ta-ra rum!—ninety-one!

IT IS a fact that everybody packs his trunk and rushes away as soon as the last examination is done, and from about this time on till Commencement, Ann Arbor begins to grow quieter and quieter. Consequently during Commencement week very few students, comparatively speaking, are seen about the campus and buildings. We wish that more students might remain for Commencement. That is the time when the University has on its holiday attire. The work is all over, and a few days could not be spent more enjoyably than those of Commencement week. There will be numerous re-unions of alumni, and there is nothing that will so increase our loyalty to the University than a day with the alumni. The many receptions and entertainments will afford all ample opportunity for one week of solid pleasure. We hope to see as many students as conveniently can, remain over Commencement.

That Oratorical Contest Again.

An interview was held with Hon. Alfred Russell, of Detroit, when he attended the unveiling of the picture of Prof. Wells. He stated that he had received an insulting letter from one of the colleges belonging to the Northern Oratorical League complaining of his marking of the orations. At first he thought that he would not reply but after some consideration he decided to answer the letter. In his reply he stated that he, his wife, and his daughter had looked over the oration separately, and, without knowing from what places they came or who had written them, all came to the conclusion that Mr. Gormley's oration was the best. To him it seemed that Mr. Gormley's oration was 25 per cent better than any of the others and hence the markings given.

The letter came from the college that had least reason to complain. Strangely enough the papers of the college had nothing to say concerning Mr. Russell's reply. The reply must have been a clincher, clearly showing the folly of those who made the attack.

The Choral Union.

Thursday evening, May 30, The Choral Union gave its second and most successful concert of the season, producing Gounod's Redemption. Mrs. Jennie Patrick Walker the soprano soloist has a voice of beautiful quality and remarkable range, and was received with enthusiasm. Her solo "From thy Love," with accompaniment by the chorus, elicited a hearty encore. Mr. Jules Jordon and Mr. Arthur Beresford are both well known here, and their interpretations of their respective parts were all that could be desired. The singing of Mrs. Stoddard, contralto, and Miss Harrah, mezzo-soprano, was of the same high character as the others. The playing of the orchestra is to be highly commended and showed the ability of Detroit musicians to organize a high-class orchestra. The singing of the Chorus received unlimited praise from every side. That in so short a time Prof. Stanley has been able to bring their rendition of this work to such a degree of perfection is a matter of congratulation to the efficient director.

During the evening Prof. de Pont in a very witty speech, in behalf of the members of the Choral Union presented Prof. Stanley with the photograph of a beautiful conductor's stand, which was expected to be on hand for the occasion but had failed to materialize. Prof. Stanley expressed his thanks and appreciation of the work of the society in a few well chosen words.

The interest and enthusiasm that has been awakened in musical affairs in this city since the advent here of Prof. Stanley, is something remarkable. If any one had suggested three years ago, that such successful concerts as have been given this year were possible, he would have been regarded as an over-enthusiast. The Choral Union with a membership of less than a hundred was endeavoring to attract audiences large enough to keep its members from becoming discouraged, and, as it seemed with but little hope of success.

Upon Prof. Stanley's assuming the leadership, the new plan of active and associate membership was adopted, only those who possessed membership tickets being admitted to the concerts. Work was begun at once upon the music for the year. "Gallia" was given at the first concert by the Choral Union. Arrangements were made for a number of concerts with outside talent, including the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The membership of the society continued to grow, and, when at the commencement of last year the very successful performance of Dudley Buck's "Light of Asia," was given, it was thought that the climax had been reached. But it was not so, the growth of the Chorus and of the interest manifested in it and its work has been steadily continuing. The successes of this year are so well known that it will suffice to but mention the work by the Choral Union in Rheinberger's Christophorus, the Boston Symphony Concert, and the concert of May 30. The Choral Union has now grown to an active membership of 230, and ranks among the best choruses in the country.

If the interest in musical matters continue to increase in the future as it has in the past two years—and there is every reason to believe that it will—we can look forward to a grand musical festival to be held here, with a week of such programs as we now have five or six times during the year. There is no reason why hearty support should not be given to such an enterprise.

The Commencement Program.

Commencement week this year will be one of unusual activity. Each day will be well filled with addresses, class day exercises and receptions. The two principle speakers of the week are Daniel C. Gilman, President of Johns Hopkins University, who will deliver the commencement oration, and Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, who will address the alumni and law students.

G. Y. Wisner read a paper before the engineering society, upon "Harbor Construction."

Two students were expelled from the chemical laboratory this week for stealing chemicals.

Librarian Davis will conduct chapel Sunday, taking for his subject "Acceptable Service."

Many were, no doubt, surprised to find that the library clock had stopped. At half-past nine o'clock last Saturday the rope supporting the weight broke. It was fortunate that the clock was nearly run down and that for this reason the weight fell but two feet. Had the weight been at its highest point it would have gone through the floor to the ground.

The last joint debate between the Jeffersonian and Webster Societies was held on Friday evening. The question under discussion was, Resolved, "That the amount of property which a person may inherit or receive by request should be restricted." The affirmative side of the question was supported by Messrs. Davis, Gilbert, and Holly. The negative by Messrs Kerrington, O'Neil, and Freeman.

H. G. Rowe, Lit. '91, has been compelled to leave college on account of ill health. He will return, however, commencement week to graduate.

O. R. Hardy, historian of the class of '91, has procured the exact age of every one of '91's fair co-eds. He threatens to give these interesting statistics on class day.

At a meeting held at the A A Φ house, the first of the week Fred. Sherwin was elected managing editor of the Palladium for '92. H. C. Bulkley, Business manager; W. Hawkins, Secretary and Treasurer. Assistant editors, F. Porter, H. Burnes, F. C. Smith, Sam Trevellick, W. W. Cheney, and W. B. Larrabee.

Everybody is very busy just now. Literally speaking, we are earning our credits by the sweat of our brows. Examinations have been the bane of our existence during the past week, and a few unfortunate persons will continue to endure the torments a good part of next week. The freshman is grinding away for the hard-hearted "tutes," who are pulling the wires for a "rep." while the senior is finishing his last seminary essay or putting the final touches to his thesis. The weather is hot and in the midst of all these trials it is no wonder that one's temper is easily ruffled. There is very little opportunity for recreation, except for a midnight lunch at Burleigh & Jolly's, or for an hour's sleep just before dawn. Our road is a rough and hot one, but our travelling is almost done. We hope that Edison will turn his attention to the invention of some automatic mental machine, which would do our work for us at this time of the year. The great need of the college world at present is some improvement over the balky, cumbersome horse.

We are indebted to the Democrat for the following interesting items as to where a few of the professors and instructors of the University intend to spend the summer:

the singles, A. S. Brown plays S. Sherman; W. F. Slocum plays R. M. Shaw; winners of these two matches to play. The winner of this contest will play the winner of the match between J. R. Angell and B. E. Page. In first class singles Codd and Angell were defeated, yesterday, by Shaw and Brown; and Sherman Bros., were beaten by Page and Slocum. The last named team will play Shaw and Brown at 11 o'clock to-day.

In second class single the entries are R. Sherman and H. G. Effinger.

Duce sets will be played and the tournament will be conducted on the "Freeze Out" plan. Best two out of three sets will decide in all save finals, where three out of five sets will be required for decision. The first prizes for winners of first class matches are gold medals, second prizes silver medals. The prize for winner of second class is a silver medal.

The Game, Monday, between the Junior and Senior Lit. teams resulted in a score of 8 to 6 in favor of the seniors. The game was watched by a large and enthusiastic representation of the two classes.

Wilkinson, left fielder of the U. of M., has made two home runs, one three bagger, three two base hits and seven singles in four games.—Harvard Crimson.

Ann Arbor-Oberlin have their second bout on Saturday next. An interesting game is hoped for, although Ann Arbor has covered herself with glory by defeating Harvard.—Oberlin Review.

Cornell's eastern trip resulted in six straight defeats and no victories. Close games were played everywhere, however. Some scores made were, with Lafayette, 6-2; with Princeton, 5-2; with Fordham, 4-3; Virginia, 1-0.

As there was no official timer to witness Carey's recent 100 yards dash, it is very doubtful if his record will be accepted. This uncertainty may lead to the introduction of some electric timing device to avoid disputes.—Crimson.

The Brunonian in its account of the game between the U. of M. and Brown, says: "This game proved to be one of the most interesting that has been played on the home grounds. On account of the recent struggle of the Michigan nine with the Yale team, some anxiety was felt for the Brown nine."

THE LIT MEDIC GAME.

Lits and Medics struggled on the ball field Tuesday for final class and department supremacy and the game was a close one. Much interest was manifested. The Senior Lits had secured the championship of their Department the day before and won Tuesday's game from the Medics by a score of 8 to 6. The '91 lits now hold the class championship in the University. The '91 team was Wilkinson, c.; Rich, p.; Codd, 1st; Ashley, 2d; Holden, 3d; Brown, s. s.; Cooley, l. f.; Hardy, c. f.; Tressler, r. f.

U. OF M. VS. D. A. C.

The most listless and uninteresting game of the present season was played at the Fair Grounds Saturday between the U. of M. and D. A. C. teams. The weather was impropositious and the crowd did not exceed three hundred. Robinson had pitched a twelve inning game Friday before for the D. A. C. club, hence was not in the best of form when he went into the box for Michigan Saturday. The score by innings was as follows:

| | | |
|----------|-------------------|-----|
| U. of M. | 1 0 0 1 3 1 4 3 0 | —13 |
| D. A. C. | 0 3 0 0 2 0 2 2 1 | —10 |

THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The Spring Tennis Tournament began yesterday afternoon and finals will probably be played off Tuesday. The following are the entries: In

In the Yale-Princeton game on Saturday, Princeton made 11 hits with a total of 13, while Yale only made three singles.

Last Saturday the second game for the championship, between Yale and Princeton, was played. Princeton won by a score of 5 to 3. Bowers and Poole formed the battery for Yale, and Young and Brookaw for Princeton. Yale won the first game, and to-day the final game is being played in New York.

It is said that the Cornell students bet $2,000 on the Cornell-Michigan ball game. If the remarks which were made on the hill when the news from the game was received should be printed, the public would no longer debate whether Colonel Ingersoll was good enough to lecture to Cornell students.—Buffalo Express.

A new campus, containing about seventy thousand acres, with a driveway seventeen miles in length, is connected with the new Leland Stanford University at Palo Alto, Cal.—Ex.

There will enter the class of '94, at Princeton next fall, a gentleman fifty-three years of a age. During the Civil War he was in the Sophomore year, and then volunteered. He now intends to return and complete the course.—Ex.

DECEIVING.

It was only a newspaper story,
And yet as I read it o'er,
My eyes grew moist and heavy,
As they had not in years before.
It was not the art of the writer,
That on my heartstrings swept,
But the story simple and tender,
Went to my heart, and I wept.
But when I arrived at the "finis,"
It caused my heart to ache,
And I said bad words, for that tender tale
Was an advertising fake.—Ex.

JACQUEMINOTS.

I sent Babette some Jacqueminots,
(They cost, I own, a "V,")
Enclosed therewith a bit of verse,
Which breathed fidelity.

Babette returned my Jacqueminots,
She scorned my dainty bit of verse,
And sent back both to me.

I sent the verse to an Editor,
(And fate smiled tranquilly,)
His check just paid for the Jacqueminots,
He sent me back a "V." —Trinity Tablet.

The Harvard Faculty have found it necessary to add another hour of recitations to the day, and will probably utilize the time between 1 and 2 o'clock, which before was free from recitations.

President C. K. Adams, of Cornell, has just returned from England and says, after months of study at Oxford and Cambridge, that they are not as well adapted to the needs of England as our colleges are to the needs of America.

A testing machine of 300,000 lbs. capacity is being constructed for the mechanical laboratory of Cornell University. The machine will be one of the largest in the United States, and will extend through three stories of the laboratory.

THE OLD STORY.

Just a ripple,—see it lightly, gently break
Where the row-boat leaves a shining wake,
Where the moonbeams bright,
Shed a softened light
On two lovers on the bosom of the lake.

Just a word,—but it makes the future bright,
And in memory will linger long this night
When in accents new
Love's own message treu

Bids two hearts in links of loving trust unite.

Just a moment,—but the past forever gone,
Points to happiness in life's bright golden dawn,
While the fair young bride
By her lover's side

O'er the rippling silvery lake floats gently on.

—The Brunonian.

The Boston Herald recently published the following interesting account of the famous football game of '85, played at New Haven between Yale and Princeton. The article contains an honorary tribute to the late Henry C. Lamar, of Princeton, who made himself famous in this game by his wonderful run to Yale's goal. The Herald says:

The end of the game was near. The score stood 5 to 0 in favor of Yale. The Yale men had for some time been playing cautiously to keep the score as it stood. Some of the graduates urged them to try to increase their score, and against the judgment, it was said, of their captain, the play was changed.

Attempting more, they lost all, and Mr. Lamar, of the Princeton eleven, breaking through the Yale rush line, made his famous run the entire length of the field, scoring a touchdown, from which a goal was kicked, making six points and winning both the game and the championship.

Last March poor Lamar, magnificently sturdy example of manhood as he was, was drowned at the opening of the canal connecting Lake Olmstead with the Savannah river. He was the oldest and only surviving son of the late Derrosset Lamar, and in college was noted for his manliness, modesty, courtesy, gentleness and the warm sympathy natural to a generous southern nature.

Prof. M. M. Miller, of Princeton, has commemorated both the victory and the subsequent sad fatality in the following verses, published in the University Magazine:

HENRY CUMMINGS LAMAR.

November 21, 1885.

Forward he leaned, and running easily
Caught up the bounding ball against his breast,
The left hand hugging it, the right arm free,—
And down the left line, toward the darkening
west,
Sped on through warding friends to meet the foe, Sidelong he swerved and toward the right he bore,
And sprinting hard and sharp, yet clean and low,
Straight through the centre of their line he tore.
And then with head erect and altered strides,
Settling his ball and body to his racing,
Between the backs' belated hands he glides,
And leads the field in fair yet fruitless chasing.
Behind the goal upon the ball he lies,
A sweet and quiet triumph in his eyes.

March 10, 1891.

And him, serenely strong and calmly brave,
Down to his death, the pounding waters bore
With her who trusted in his strength to save
As he had trusted—in a breaking oar.

LITERARY NOTES.

Charles H. Kerr & Co. have in press for issue in July a new novel of Western University life, by Anson Uriel Hancock, author of "The Genius of Galilee," and "Old Abraham Jackson." It will be entitled, "John Auburntop, Novelist: His Development in the Atmosphere of a Fresh Water College." The "local color" of the book is derived from the author's college experience of five years at the University of Nebraska, and is said to be full of touches that will call up vivid reminiscences to the mind of many former students of our Western State Universities. All who believe in co-education will welcome Mr. Hancock's study of Minerva Jackson—probably the first attempt at introducing into a novel the university girl of to-day.

The Review of Reviews, which has reached an enormous circulation in England, and which is rapidly becoming a favorite in this country, now appears in an American edition under the editorial supervision of Dr. Albert Shaw, one of the soundest thinkers on economical questions in this country. The American edition, it is gratifying to note, is a decided improvement in typography upon the English edition, from which it differs in matter only in being better adapted to the special wants of the American public. To teachers The Review of Reviews will become indespensable as soon as they ascertain how easy it will be by its aid to obtain an intelligent knowledge of the great events in the world's history from month to month. As Dr. H. B. Adams happily puts it, The Review of Reviews is "A clearing house of all important English and American magazines." Each number contains about a hundred pages with numerous portraits and caricatures. The subscription price is however only $2.00 per year, thus making The Review of Reviews the cheapest magazine in the world. It is published at Astor Place, New York.

FOOTPRINTS OF THE WORLD'S HISTORY: It is a relief to pick up a new book that is at once thrilling, romantic, wholesome, pure, and true. Such a work is "Footprints of the World's History," the latest and greatest work of the two celebrated historians, John Clark Ridpath and Wm. S. Bryan. These distinguished gentlemen, having won their laurels by independent writings, have co-operated on this work, and produced a gem "of the purest ray serene." It is not a dry uninteresting statement of the plain facts, but rather each of the most important events of history has been taken up and described by a master of language, who holds the reader entranced as he wends his way along the path of history, following carefully in the footprints of progress. We are delighted with this superb volume. Perfect in thought, superb in style, and magnificent in execution. The bindings are sumptuous, as are also the many illustrations and colored plates. The publishers have rightly concluded that such a gem should have a rich setting. It is a valuable addition to literature. It is a book for the old as well as the young; the married as well as the single; the gay as well as the grave. Everybody will read it with equal eagerness and profit. It is sold only through agents, and the publishers' advertisement appears in another column.
